Why Important

- Significant projects do not achieve their intended objectives in terms of quality, time, costs, and benefits
- Scaling up of operational/sales activities and start-ups remain below target
- Consolidation of production sites (near-shoring, off-shoring and re-shoring), adjustment of supply chain management, significant regrouping and/or demographics of staff disrupt strategic objectives

The failure to achieve the objectives of these projects and activities is mainly caused by the lack of knowledge to organise and execute them properly.
